Imagine being a child who has to leave home with no idea of where you're going and worse
still, not knowing when or IF, you'll ever see your family and loved ones
again...

Before the Last All Clear is the story of one young evacuee from Liverpool who was sent to live in the Welsh town of Llanelli. Separated from his mother, brothers and sisters, six-year old Ray Evans, was dispatched to a series of families some of whom ignored, exploited and in some cases even abused him.

Pushed from pillar to post, he finally finds happiness with a family who make him so welcome that he is reluctant to leave when the war finally ends.

Set in a world of ration books, air-raid sirens and ever-present danger, Before the Last All Clear is a candid and direct account of wartime Britain as seen through the eyes of a child.

Mr. Evans and his wife Lilian will be joining Ms. Wrenn's class at school for a live Q&A Tuesday 6th June, 2017 (date to be confirmed).
